

CLAIMS

1. A business method for financing intellectual property litigation, comprising:
obtaining a pool of funds from one or more investors;
5 selecting intellectual property litigation, wherein an owner of intellectual property under litigation pays to said pool of funds a predetermined amount;
financing from said pool of funds said intellectual property litigation; and apportioning profit resulting from a settlement of said intellectual property litigation between at least said investors, and the owner of said intellectual 10 property under dispute.
2. The method of claim 1, wherein thirty or more intellectual property disputes are selected.
- 15 3. The method of claim 1, wherein said intellectual property disputes are selected by expert analysis.
4. The method of claim 1, wherein said intellectual property dispute is a patent dispute.

20